Mobile Security Suite

Whether your organization provides employees with mobile devices, or they purchase them for themselves, these devices enter the workplace for one reason—users want to be more productive. While productivity must be encouraged, you must also protect your business from data breaches stemming from this increasingly diverse set of mobile tools. Ivanti® Mobile Security Suite, powered by Landesk, helps you do so.

Focus on Your Data

Mobile devices are very personal. Secure the data and applications your users access from their devices while respecting the personal content on them.

Run Corporate Apps Alongside Personal Ones

Users resent the inconvenience of additional required credentials to enter/exit containerized spaces for corporate apps. App-wrapping and secure browser capabilities let users run these applications securely, side-by-side with their personal content.

Preserve the Native Mobile Application Experience

Users gain secured access to corporate email and other PIM content (calendars, attachments, etc.) through their preferred email application. They enjoy the user experience they desire, while you ensure the corporate data accessed from these devices is protected and complies with corporate policies.

Enable Secure Mobile Access to Corporate Websites

Through our secure browser your users gain mobile access to internal corporate websites and intranets. No need for a VPN connection and no worries about data leakage.

App-wrapping Made Easy

Securely wrap the applications you provide to users—without extra coding. App-wrapping is performed via a few simple, menu-based instructions. Need to update policies for wrapped apps? Send the updated policies without having to re-distribute new versions of the entire mobile application.

BYOD-friendly Security

Gain user compliance with policies and safeguard your business from security breaches while retaining the personal nature of mobile devices. By preserving the native user experience, you'll achieve silent protection—with or without MDM—and empower your users to accomplish more.

Mobile Security within Your Unified Endpoint Management Solution

Realizing secure mobility doesn't have to mean a separate MDM console. Add Ivanti Mobile Security Suite to Ivanti® Endpoint Manager for comprehensive management and protected mobility in one place.
