ivanti

Avalanche Printer Management

Deploying and managing printers and mobile devices in supply chain takes a significant business investment. Your business depends on uptime from all your technology systems in supply chain and retail, and printers are no exception.

Whether you're refreshing your rugged mobile devices or printer stocks, you want a modern enterprise mobility management experience that lets you see a full picture through a single pane of glass. Ivanti's Avalanche Printer Management software lets you discover and manage all of the deployed printers across the warehouse, distribution centers, and retail locations. This enterprise print management solution helps you discover and track devices, as well as automate, monitor, and troubleshoot remotely with total visibility—right along with all of your rugged mobile computers.

Features and Capabilities

- Discover, enroll, manage, and configure all printer populations across several locations on a single dashboard
- Reports and printer-alert notifications let you monitor, track, and resolve issues faster
- Centralized management of all printers in one place with a single-pane view
- Direct communication allows remote troubleshooting anywhere and at any time, helping to avoid unnecessary service calls
- Upgrade or downgrade printer firmware easily and maintain software consistency across all of your devices
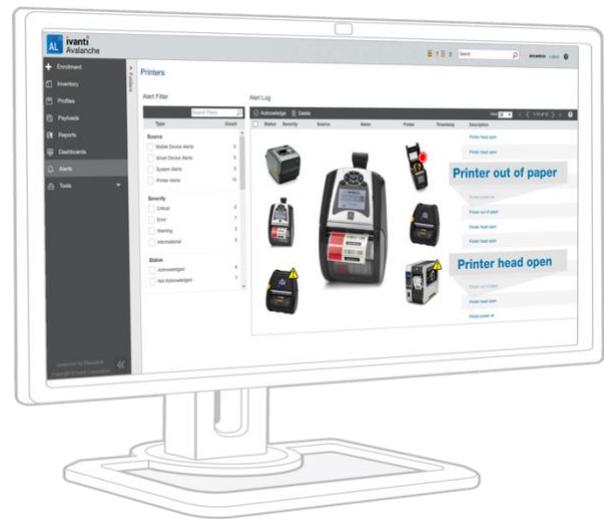

Use Cases

Predict and Prevent Service Delays
When a printer goes down, workers often switch over to the next available printer in their area. You want them focused on their tasks, not thinking about replenishing media, swapping print heads, or other printer maintenance. With Avalanche Printer Management, you have the visibility to perform maintenance proactively, preventing service interruptions.

Know When to Reorder Supplies
Avoid overspending on consumable media and print heads. You gain the visibility to determine usage over time, peak-use periods, and more. Make sense of your inventory requirements and benefit from a predictable budget for consumables.

ivanti

Keep Orders Moving

Logistics businesses thrive when conveyors continuously carry shipments on their way to the loading dock doors. Even a single printer down can bring an entire shipping line to a halt. Before the line starts running, ensure that printers are replenished and ready to keep pace with the day's business demands.

Gain Productivity with Consistency

Push down a standard configuration to all the printers quickly, centrally and remotely. Using the same label format and colors makes it easier for material handlers to look for items from location to location.

GET A FREE DEMO

Learn More

For more information, or to contact Ivanti, please visit www.ivanti.com.

ivanti.com